

LINE INCREASES AT "ARMY" LUNCHROOM

Report Shows 1,296 Meals Served During Week Ending Jan. 31.

More men were given meals during the week ending Jan. 31 than any like period since the opening of the Wayfarers' lunchroom in the armory on west Church street, it was announced today, by Captain John Hunter of the Salvation Army, under whose supervision the place is operating. Beginning with Monday, Jan. 25, a total of 1,296 meals were served to transient unemployed men and local single men. The figures bring the total number of meals served up to 11,782 since the opening of the kitchen last October.

Although no set budget is available for financing the lunchroom, and provisions were beginning to hit rock bottom recently, the response to an appeal for contributions both of cash and food stuffs has made it possible for the place to continue from week to week.

Contributions are received from local business men and others interested in the maintenance of the lunchroom by Captain Hunter.

The following figures provide an idea as to the amount of materials consumed each week: 105 gallons of coffee, 50 gallons of sweet milk and buttermilk, 420 pounds of potatoes, 100 pounds of cornmeal and rolled oats, 290 pounds of pigs feet, 2,500 slices of bread, 35 gallons of soup.

Driver Pleads Guilty to Using Improper License.

After spending considerable time in disguising his 1931 automobile license plates so that they would look like the 1932 tags, Darrell Gamble, 20, of 277 Forest street, will now not only have to buy new tags but will have to pay in addition a fine of $25 and costs.

Police say Gamble painted the background of his old plates with black paint and the figures with white paint. On the one plate the figures at the bottom showing the year, were covered with a "Marion" name plate while the date line on the other was painted black.

The change was not discovered until a patrolman became suspicious when he noted the license number started with the letter B followed by the figures 59. This he knew was a 1931 serial number and an investigation revealed the paint.

Gamble pleaded guilty to a charge of driving with improper license plates when arraigned before Municipal Judge W. R. Martin yesterday afternoon and was fined $25 and costs.

You boarders with oil on your feet'll have to wait second table.... SNAPPED MRS. JONES

BY MARILLA JONES, proprietress of an elite boarding house in Cleveland, and by people in general, back in the days following the Civil War, "these oil fellows" were looked on as a vagrant lot.

Certainly the scene of their operations along Kingsbury Run in Cleveland inspired no confidence... a hundred or so ramshackle shanties smelling to heaven of raw petroleum while the open fires burned under homemade "tea-kettle" distilleries. "Wildcat" products and chaotic prices ranging from 10c to $10 a barrel, were the order of the day during those years of confusion.

NOT until a group of capable, far-seeing business men of Ohio organized the Standard Oil Company in 1870 was the buying public assured that the oil it bought would be of a standard quality, as indicated by the choice of "Standard" as the company name.

FOR more than half a century now the Standard Oil Company has vigorously put into action the ideals of those founders. Repeatedly, the eyes of the petroleum world have turned back to this starting place of the industry in Ohio to see what's new in oil. One time it may have been the development of a motor oil free from harmful wax; another, the discovery of a method for "heat-tempering" gasoline.

BUT excellence of product has been only one part of the Standard Oil Company's contribution. Another part has been to make it easy for motorists to obtain the products they need. Today Sohio's red-white-and-blue Service Stations form a network of friendly way-points throughout Ohio. They are ready to supply, not only the finest of gasolines and motor oils, but also a variety of incidental services and supplies that are in constant demand by motorists. A most recent example is Sohio's complete tire service.

The first test of what Sohio Service shall include has always been, "Will it make motoring more convenient?"

Let's Turn to God

A SERMONETIM
REV. H. E. WILLIAMSON, PASTOR,
Oakland Evangelical Church

GOD is our creator, preserver, redeemer and friend. He has done everything for our welfare which a loving heart could do. He provides for us materially and spiritually.

He tells us to "seek first the kingdom of God and his righteousness and all these things (needed material blessings) shall be added unto you." He also says, "They that seek the Lord shall not want any good thing." When men do this he sees to it that all their needs are supplied. Look, how the Lord sent his blessings upon crops last year so that berries, fruits, grains and vegetables were given in superabundance. He literally poured out his blessings. Then see again how he had tempered the winter weather so far in order that poor folks without work would not suffer so much and besides save coal and clothing bills. Truly God has been good to us and by his goodness is trying to lead us to repentance. And yet the vast multitudes have never heard to return thanks to him for a single meal. Many children have never heard their "daddy" or mother pray to the great and good God. Many children plead with their parents to take them to Sunday school and church where they may learn the old, old story of Jesus and his love.

God is lavishing his love upon us also by the gift of his Son Jesus Christ and his grace of salvation. What more could he do for us? Yet the most of us are running away from him in sin, forgetting him and neglecting his great salvation and seeking things that do not profit. He waits to be gracious and receive us in mercy even when we turn away from him. Folks, let's turn away from Satan and his service and turn back to God. He will forgive, save and bless us. Amen

Marion Bible Students To Form Men's Federation

The organization of a Men's Bible class federation will be effected Sunday afternoon at the First United Brethren church. When the organization has been completed, it is estimated that more than 1,500 men of Marion churches will be members.

A. D. Harruff is temporary chairman and L. D. Unsworth is temporary secretary. The idea for such an organization originated some time ago when presidents of several men's classes in the city discussed a union of the classes. The plan was enlarged upon to include all classes in the city.

Paul V. Barrett, personnel director of the Ohio Oil company in Findlay, will be the speaker at the Sunday meeting, called for 2 p. m. An invitation is extended by the temporary officers to all men's classes in the city to meet Sunday afternoon and assist in the organization of a permanent federation.

The first meeting was announced after Bible classes from 20 Marion churches signified their desire to form such a federation and their willingness to cooperate in any way.

Forty-day Session of Observance of Death and Resurrection of Christ Will Begin Wednesday; Pastors Plan Special Sermons.

The Lenten season will begin Wednesday, with services in five Marion churches. Lent is the period of 40 days before Easter observed as a preparation for the passion, death and resurrection of Christ, and as a time of penitence, prayer and fasting, spiritual and physical.

Ashes will be blessed and distributed at St. Mary's Catholic church at masses Wednesday morning and benediction Wednesday night. The first day of Lent is observed as Ash Wednesday.

To Preach Here

Ash Wednesday services will be conducted at the First Episcopal church Wednesday night with the pastor, Rev. S. S. Hardy delivering the sermon. Rev. C. Sturges Ball, S. T. D. of Bexley Hall, Kenyon college at Gambier, Rev. William C. Seitz, S. T. D., also of Bexley hall and the Rev. Lela J. Bailey of Harcourt parish have accepted invitations to preach at the mid-week Lenten services.

Rev. J. W. Schilling of Emanuel's Lutheran church will open the Lenten season with services Wednesday night, and continue the series of sermons on the themes of the present day. His subjects for the period follow:

Feb. 14, "Will Science Finally Destroy Religion?" Feb. 21, "Is Jesus Coming or Going?" Feb. 28, "What is a Christian World?" March 6, "What is a Man's Soul One Minute After Death?" March 13, "Why I Believe in the Soul's Immortality." March 20, "The Triumph of Death."

Plans for Passion Week

The second and third series will be delivered on Sunday mornings and Wednesday nights. During passion week, preceding Easter Sunday, he will deliver three sermons and conduct preparatory services on Good Friday.

The Sunday morning series of subjects follow:

Feb. 14, "The Temptations of Christ." Feb. 21, "God Measuring the Church." Feb. 28, "Hearing and Hearing God's Voice." March 6, "Revels of the Blessed Life." March 13, "The Answer to Doubt." Subjects for the Wednesday night services follow:

Feb. 10, "The Purpose of Lent." Feb. 17, "Faith and the Inevitable." Feb. 24, "Faith and Fatigue." These will be followed by a series on questions asked by Jesus in the Gospels. Feb. 28, "Why Are Ye Fearful?" March 6, "Seest Thou Aught?" March 13, "None of You Ask Me?" March 20, "Whither Goest Thou?"

The services during Passion week will have the following sequence: Tuesday, "And the People Stood Beholding." Wednesday, "The Meaning of the Cross." Thursday, "Man's Unbelief." The morning services will be at 10 a. m. and the Wednesday and Sunday night services will be at 7:30 p. m. The sermons have been arranged for the public. Rev. M. Huckle said yesterday in announcing his Lenten services.

Monday and Tuesday night services have been arranged for mothers and daughters and fathers and sons. The mother and daughter most resembling each other will be recognized at the Monday night service and on Tuesday night recognition will be given the father and son bearing the closest resemblance. Wednesday night will be "family night," at which time recognition will be given the largest family.

Daily cottage prayer meetings have been instituted in various sections of the city since the revival opened last Sunday and the reports of the number reading their Bibles has been gratifying. Rev. M. Huckle said.

An outline of the sermons and songs for the week follows: Monday, sermon, "God's Lighthouse of songs." Daily Proverb—"That only is a disgrace to a man which he has deserved to suffer."

Talking about isolation, what is equal to that of the country, these days, which isn't facing a deficit?

"Huey Long Visits Hoover; Not So Long on

Praise"—Headline over a Washington story.

Luck sometimes breaks with Mr. Hoover.

When all is said, the chief difference between the slaughter in Shanghai and that in

Louvain eighteen years ago is that the present

is more ruthless.

"Cooperation," says a western paper editorially, "has made a large number of men

rich. But they were the organizers—not farmers." Isn't it the truth?

Within two days four persons were shot and wounded on the streets of Washington by bullets fired from automobiles. Even the streets of the national capital seem to have been taken over by the criminal world!

Lenox, Massachusetts, being hard up for cash,

a reporter on one of the newspapers there loaned the municipality $20,000. Every once in a while some newspaper man inherits money.

The supreme court of Ohio this week held slot machines and mint and other vending devices in which there was an element of chance to be gambling paraphernalia. This decision just about takes the ground from under the city and village police forces who have permitted the operation of such paraphernalia either through friendship for the operators or for tribute from them.

The paying guest of the Seneca County home

who recently inherited $21,000, is being flooded with love letters. It may be said of the gold diggers that they never overlook any bet.

The Big Four railroad shops just out of Indianapolis are to be reopened February 15 with a full force of 1,200 men. May this be taken as a result of the recent wage agreement?

Nine residents of Springfield, Massachusetts, died within three days from the effects of drinking an anti-freeze liquid and a tenth is reported to be dying. The "experiment, noble

in purpose" certainly has had some wholly un-anticipated results.

Word came from Miami Beach, Friday, that

Gar Wood had beaten the world's water record

by almost a mile and a half by driving his speed boat at an average speed of 111.712 miles an hour. Greater speed than this may, of course, be attained, but it is open to question

that much greater speed will ever be attained

unless there is a radical departure from the present construction of speed boats.

Mellon and Mills.

The naming of Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury since 1921, to the post of ambassador to Great Britain and of Ogden L.

Mills, undersecretary of the treasury, to the secretaryship of that department is an astute distribution of the administration's talent.

Mr. Mills has been assuming gradually the burden of treasury administration as it has become necessary to ease the load on Mr. Mel-lon's aging shoulders. The arrangement was a happy one, because it made available to the public the sagacity of a wise old head and the vigor of an intelligent young head.

The post of ambassador to Great Britain, the most important in the diplomatic service, has been given added importance by recent events

in international finance and the disturbances

in the Far East. Sound counsel and mature wisdom are needed as never before if the two great English-speaking nations of the world are to act in friendly concert.

Charles G. Dawes, called home to direct the Reconstruction Finance corporation, was filling the post acceptably. The necessity of finding a man equally capable to succeed him was urgent. While Mr. Mellon's name was not mentioned in the early conjectures, the administration seems to have turned to it instinctively

as one offering the most substantial promise of satisfactory accomplishment. It is fitting that this man who has grown up in public service would be thus rewarded. As ambassador he will have an opportunity to draw on his experience without sapling the diminishing resources of his physical strength too freely.

Mr. Mills, needless to say, goes to his position as secretary of the treasury with the backing of public confidence. He has been performing the administrative duties of the position capably for some time and has established complete respect for his abilities.

President Hoover is indeed fortunate to have such capable men under the political banner he bears.

A Dollar, More or Less.

There is a story told about the dollar that

President Hoover might have used in appealing to Americans to put something like 1,300,000,000

of them, now hoarded, to work for the good of the country.

There were twenty men, it seems. One of them had a dollar, but it didn't do him any good because there was nothing for him to buy; no one else had any money to buy things

from him and he didn't want to lose his dollar.

So he loaned it to B. So far as credit was concerned there were two dollars at work

among the twenty, then B loaned it to C, however, and that made three. Pretty soon it had gone the rounds and was back at its starting place and the twenty men were beginning to get busy.

They used the credit created by the dollar on its first round to get more credit. They bought merchandise, let contracts for building and hired men to help them. In the course of a year they had a complicated credit structure

which they called prosperity.

Then, the man who had started it all with his dollar got to thinking about things, and the more he thought the more frightened he became. What if it should all collapse? Where would he be? He decided to get himself in the clear, so the first thing he did was to collect his dollar from B, who had to collect it from C, who had to collect it from D, and so on.

A year later, there being no business after the credit collapse, they were talking it over one day. They had different ideas about what caused it all in the first place. But they finally agreed on one thing: it all started when the dollar was taken out of circulation for safe keeping. If they could get it going again

among them—

That's all that President Hoover's asking

Americans to do—to take their dollars out of hiding, and put them in circulation. He isn't blaming any one for what happened, but he wants very much that every one should understand that a dollar held out of circulation for safe keeping is only a token of wealth. To do good it must circulate. "He who would save his life shall lose it."

The amount of money in circulation, which means the amount in possession of the public, is $5,589,000,000, which is an abnormally large amount. Still, it does not represent an eighth of the turnover in terms of money during good times. When a dollar circulates it does the work of twenty. It is a dollar, more or less,— depending upon the way it is used.

Circulation of the dollar is part of the administration's program of reconstruction, the first detail of which was the Reconstruction

Finance corporation. The road away from depression is a long hard one. Progress on it depends to a very great extent on what Americans do with dollars. Neither the President nor any other public official wants them to do anything against their will. Some way, some time, however, they must be made to see that it all depends on the universal spread of confidence that will put dollars back at work.

That ninety per cent. of the liquor prescriptions issued by doctors are "bootlegging prescriptions" was declared before a senate subcommittee by Dr. Arthur Dean Bevan, head of the surgical department of Rush Medical college of the University of Chicago and former president of the American Medical association.

It is very gravely to be feared that the doctor hasn't got his conception of medical ethics on straight.

Bob-Sledding for Grown-Ups.

The United States has gasped and wondered

a little bit at the careless daring of the bob-

sledders who have dared reckless death down

the icy slides of Mount Van Hovenberg for victory in the Olympic games and glory for their country. Bob-sledding for grown-ups is limited by none of the sensible precautions that those same grown-ups usually insist upon when children are the riders.

The American teams, using sleds with skate

runners, promise to win with the same handi-ness that surprised onlookers at the Olympic games at St. Moritz in 1928, when they took first and second places. European contestants use sleds with round runners, claiming that type enables them to attain higher speeds. The German entrants, disorganized by bad accidents, have sacrificed their prospects of victory to the hope of speed. They were unable to control their sleds on the treacherous turns of the long run.

Speeds up to seventy miles an hour are common in grown-up bob-sledding. It is extremely bad form to apply the brakes with which the sleds are equipped on the run; they are used to stop the sled when the course has been covered. The sleds, costing thousands of dollars in some cases, are marvels of strength and grace. It is distinctly a sport for the effete

well-to-do who are able and willing to bargain high for a thrill. It would be surprising if young America were to continue responsive to parental caution in its bob-sledding activities

after the tenth Olympic games are over—if there come snow and ice to slide on. Grown-up

America and grown-up Europe have been exhibiting extensions of the old-fashioned thrill

that make a straight hill and an icy track look like a quiet evening at home eating apples and reading Pilgrim's Progress.

Looking to the counteracting of the attractions of wet foreign steamships, bills have been introduced in the lower house of congress to prohibit the joy-ride "cruises to nowhere,"

which have become somewhat popular since last fall. If the cruises have been all they have been described, one might think they would prove more advantageous to American ships than foreign. Scenes of former debauches are not always alluring to decent-minded people.

Damages in the sum of $50,000 are being asked by a Detroit woman from an Albion woman and the latter's father for injuries sustained by her as the result of an accident

while she was motoring with them as their guest, and out in Los Angeles Host Gibson

is being sued for $80,000 for injuries sustained

by a man and his wife while riding with Gibson in his machine. Driving an automobile is hazardous in more ways than one, but why should we true aristocrats of the land worry?

SEEING HIMSELF AS OTHERS SEE HIM.

Editorial Opinion.

UNCLE SAM NOT THE WORLD'S MINT.

By determining to stop the sale of American gold coins to speculative gentry abroad—who want gold eagles merely for the purpose of reselling them at an exorbitant profit to frightened holders in Europe—the New York banks

have taken a step not only sound, but altogether right. The United States has no duty whatsoever to supply coinage, whether gold,

silver or brass, to the people of foreign nations. By law, as by sovereign authority, such a supply is in each instance the exclusive function of a government toward its own people, and not toward any others. If the French people want gold coins, it is "up to" the French government to decide whether or not the mints

of France shall supply it. The same holds true of the Netherlands and the Dutch government,

as well as of any other country in the world.

Nothing whatever in the rule of practice of the gold standard calls upon Uncle Sam to operate as a mint for the world, though under ordinary conditions, as a simple matter of convenience, for others as well as ourselves,

he may from time to time do so.

This is a bedrock principle beyond challenge, and it is good to observe that according to today's dispatches, the proper authorities abroad fully recognize it. According to the Associated Press cable, "The Bank of France and several other leading central banks of Europe, have assured New York bankers of their support"

against this "bootlegging" of American eagles

Just Things

—BY EDNA S. DUTTON—

Winter

KIDDIES receiving sleds from good old St. Nick at the glad-some Christmastide certainly got a bad break this winter so far as the weatherman is concerned. But are they on the lookout for the first chance to make use of the gift? While careful pedestrians picked their way cautiously, waited for the buses or hitch-hiked their way to business yesterday morning the kids in the neighborhood and elsewhere fairly welcomed the cold gray dawn on their sleds. There was something akin to envy in our "buzzums" when we saw a youngster going out of his way to find the icy spots on the sidewalk while we were doing a prayer marathon that we would make the grade without someone else collecting on the insurance policy.

Loaves

THERE are folks who remember when it was really a treat to gather around the family board and find that the slabs of bread were from a loaf from the bakery. And now, well, just what wouldn't you give for a slab of that grand, golden-brown home made bread? Of course you must take into consideration what a passel of hungry kids could do to a loaf of bread, especially in a tie-up with beansoup. Friday used to be the break-baking day if our data is correct, and it was something of a tedious process for the dough had to be worked down at just the psychological moment. It had to be kept just so warm and was to be left the outside door open. It was just as much a matter of justifiable pride to be first to have the loaves out of the oven as it was to know that on Monday morning the neighbors cast a searching eye across the fence to see if your washing was on the line, but then the latter was something of a matter of speed on your part and the bread took its own time. But we ask you, was there anything better to look at or taste than those four loaves, baked in the "long" pan, the two round loaves and the pan of light biscuits?

Candy Hearts

WE are getting old-fashioned. Only this week we saw some of those candy hearts with sentiments on them. To be sure they were snappier than those of the hand-painted and butter bowl and rolling pin era, but they were hearts and they had words on them. Some of them were light and airy, such as "Keep 'em guessing," "See you soon," "Give him the air," etc., etc., not nearly so thorough as "may I hope," "you have my heart," "ta, ta," etc., etc.

ers were made to be contributed to needy families. Mrs. Ernest King was a guest of the club. Refreshments were served during a short social hour. The next meeting will be in two weeks with Mrs. Samuel Wolfinger of the Hillman road.

Edward Hoffman and Harley Bush were awarded honors for high scores when the Jolly Eight club met last evening at the home of Blaine Swisher of Lee street. Two tables were filled for euchre. The members will be entertained Feb. 12 at the home of Harley Bush of Wood street.

Mrs. Harry Kraus will entertain the circle in two weeks at Ringer's Inn.

NEW YORK—In flat contradiction of the calendar and despite the frigid months that intervene between now and the time when the winter coat is relegated to its limbo of moth-balls, spring is here—that is, for the ladies.

The staging of the annual parade of lovely trailing gowns, piquant hats, snappy, colorful sport clothes and novel accoutrements by the Garment Retailers of America, at New York, has put the bee in milady's bonnet. Already the swan song of the fur coat is running like a theme song through her mind and the vernal tra-la-las, reminiscent of primroses, has made its bow.

Taking Inventory
Wardrobes are being overhauled and an inventory made of their contents, while milady enumerates in anticipatory glee the new additions that will soon hang therein.

The style show has proclaimed spring while the first robin is still taking sunbaths away down south. Yet one can readily understand a woman's enthusiasm after seeing the colorful parade of the fashions to-be. Colorful is not loosely used here. Depression regardless, never before was there a style exhibition of such grandeur.

Of the 110 creations displayed a great many owed their color keynote to the George Washington Bicentennial, occurring this year, for reds, whites and blues predominated in patriotic contrasts.

Colorful and Longer
All the exhibits were of lively hues and slightly longer than the current mode. Sports skirts were 10 to 12 inches from the floor, formal evening gowns reached the floor, some even featuring an abbreviated train.

For formal evening wear the smartest colors are corsair blue and white, chartreuse, and mulberry, yellow and tomato red, and yellow and orange. These evening gowns were fashioned in varying styles—hipless, backless and high waisted. Most of the models featured short little jackets and caplets of transparent velvet, lined and unlined, offering brilliant color contrasts. In a few of the more conservative models the suspicion of sleeves was apparent.

Sports clothes are to be snappier than ever, the sleeveless, high-colored suède jacket being the piece de resistance.

Still Some Pajamas
Pajamas seem to be on the wane, although there were some rather intriguing models in the latest evening gown vogue. If one did not make a close inspection, they would pass for the formal garment.

The materials used in the frocks for the coming season are new and different. For coats, rough-surfaced, diagonal and crepey wools are favored, cottons for sport and town wear. Organdie and voile are the mediums for formal attire.

Among the fascinating accessories are "matador sashes" for pajamas, turbans of tulle for formal wear, jockey caps of white pique for the tennis courts and gloves that have two ruffles at the wrist.

An interesting feature of the show was the pageant presenting "The Belle of '76," exhibiting exact reproductions of the elaborate ball gowns worn in that period by Martha Washington, Dolly Madison and Elizabeth Monroe. These were copied from exhibits in the National Museum at Washington, D. C. and go to show that the love for fine feathers is not, as some people would have us believe, a modern trait.

TELLS OF WEDDING
AT LODGE MEETING

Announcement of the wedding of Mrs. Elizabeth Bratton of Marion avenue to J. J. Good of this city, which took place a month ago in Kentucky, was made yesterday afternoon at a meeting of Wayside Loyal circle of Wayside Rose Rebekah lodge with Mrs. Hazel Grimes of 512 Avondale avenue. Mrs. Bertha Lenon was the assisting hostess. Mr. and Mrs. Good are at home at 236 north Grand avenue. A contest conducted in a social hour at the meeting. Mrs. Grace Randolph was consoled. A meeting will be held Feb. 19 with Mrs. Inez Fox of 231 Olney avenue, at which time Mrs. Ida Sinden will be assisting hostess.

CHAPTER TWELVE

Crackers and a kitten. Dickey's face went blank. Then he came manfully to the practical life.

"You ought," he agreed slowly. "If you really promise me, Hope—he will take you into coming home. You'll be home now!"

His eyes studied him and he said nothing.

"I want to leave your mother and all kin," he explained magnificently. "Leave all your husband."

"You mean," said Hope carefully, "you are not going to take me?"

"No, Hope!"

He shivered slightly at his explanation, and drew her velvet wrap with its white fur collar, about her.

"You ever heard of going home?"

right after being married? insisted Dickey in an injured tone. "You leave home right after you're married. Every one knows that."

"Well, where are we going?" inquired Hope in a timid voice.

"To a hotel, of course. We'll call your father from there. I don't mind telling him we're married. That's all right by me. I want to do the right thing—though I don't intend to call old Hickey until the morning. Morning's time enough. But your father and mother don't approve of me. And I don't want any interference. Understand?"

"You've chosen me now, baby, and you're going to stick by me, aren't you?"

She gazed at him, her heart swelling with tenderness.

"Forever and ever," she said simply. And who would ever have imagined Hope so tractable? Was it possible that Hope had met the man who could manage her?

Dickey, after a rewarding kiss for this last statement, was busy fishing in his pockets. From one after another he hauled out cash, dollars and cents.

"Fourteen dollars and sixty-nine cents," he announced after poking over the silver with a probing finger. "Well, I guess we can get by for tonight. After tonight things will be okay, baby. Hickey will do the right thing. First off, tomorrow morning I'm going to get you the sweetest ring you ever saw. That old signet ring of mine is just a make-shift, you know."

Hope felt the bulging old signet ring with her small cold fingers.

"I like it," she decided with a queer little smile. "I love that old signet ring. It's my wedding ring."

"Shucks," grinned Dickey. "Suppose I'm going to let you wear something your crowd will laugh at? Say I didn't have enough to buy you a decent ring? I haven't got enough. But I'll get it. I can pay old Hickey back. I won't go to college any more. I guess I'll get a job right in Hickey's office. Or maybe I'll write plays."

"Oh, please write a play," Hope pleaded gleefully. "They make lots of money, Dickey."

She shivered again, and Dickey started the car with a sudden spurt of activity.

"Where are we going?" she called to him against the wind.

"To the hotel here," he answered, drawing her closer and cruising quietly up the streets of the town.

But first they found a tiny dry-goods store open, and purchased some necessities, with their thoughts on the $14 that had to go so far. Fourteen dollars for a honeymoon, giggled Hope. Wasn't it romantic? Fourteen dollars, reddened Dickey, but of course, that was only until morning. They could get by.

They made a few more purchases. A pack of cigarettes and two boxes of crackers. A bottle of milk and several chocolate bars. Because, after all, it was nearly 3 in the morning, and many hours since they had eaten. On their money it would be impossible for them to order a snack in the hotel, so it was best to bring in a few nibbles.

grous, beautiful things, and take you traveling everywhere and show you off to the world."

"But, Dickey—could you get me the pussy now? I'd just love it!"

Dickey retorted with a handsome shake of his head and a swift brace of his shoulders.

"You wait," he said. And marched off to the house.

Hope, standing now, gazed from Dickey's progress toward the darkened and sleeping house, back to the white kitty that mewed soulfully through the wire caging. Suddenly she flung out her arms and looked up at the moon. May moon. Lover's moon.

People seldom realize about young men's fancies. The woman, wrapped in a shawl over her black-bathrobe, who eventually snapped on her lights and opened her front door a crack to peer at Dickey, had tart ideas about young men's fancies.

She spoke a piece of her mind. And shut the door in Dickey's face. But Dickey, dauntless, rang her bell again. Over and over he rang it standing sturdily in front of the blank stretch of the old oaken doorway.

The old woman swung open the door once more. Now, one could see her crinkled curl papers, and even from where Hope stood, one could hear her shrill voice talking wildly about police and people that disturbed others' peace.

One could see Dickey jam his foot inside the doorway. One could see Dickey enter inch by inch, until the door closed behind, and Dickey was inside with the bewitched old lady.

Long Hope waited. Crouched beside the white kitty, who seemed to understand and who purred sublimely. The big white cat turned to haul forth a white feline infant between its motherly teeth.

Oozy, ineffectual tears came to Hope's eyes. At the sight of the white furred baby, she forgot completely how long Dickey was being closeted in the big wooden house with the frail woman in curl-papers, and forgot conveniently how necessary it was to phone Papa Rosa.

Eventually Dickey returned. With the woman beside him, beaming now in spite of her grumbles, a huge man's coat drawn over her shawl and her blanket bathrobe.

Dickey explained. One could not buy the big white cat, because such an animal was worth $140 and one had only $20 in one's pocket!

"Heart of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

Mary, to Forestall a Jealous Outburst on the Part of Noel, Tells Him of the Plan and Explains Why Ronald Is "Rushing" Her.

AS Mary's voice with its appeal to Noel came to our ears from the curtained recess of the living room, Lillian and I walked away as hastily as we could without calling attention to our movements. But as we went we heard Noel's voice, low, but with a husky strained note in it, replying to her question.

"Of course I'll do anything you wish. It's sweet of you to tell me about it. But I shall be glad when it's over."

"I won't keep it up longer than I have to do," Mary replied. "And if you want to, you can read Whitman with—"

We were out of earshot before she finished, but I guessed the disguised objection that must have burst from Noel's lips before she finished her sentence with the name of Avis Arlen, as she patiently intended doing.

"The little devil!" Lillian murmured as we skirted the dancers now aware to our presence and gaily waving to us, and sat down on a couch at the far end of the room. "She'll be riding him for that when they're ninety."

The Stars Say—
For Sunday, Feb. 7

SUNDAY'S HOROSCOPE is a most propitious one, holding promise of promotion, preferment and honors from those in authority, with increased finances and interesting change and social contacts. Elderly persons or institutions may assist in bringing these to fruition. Travel with care.

Those whose birthday it is are assured of a year of splendid attainments, with promotion, honors and preferment from those in authority or elderly persons or institutions. These culminate in fulfilled ambitions, increased fortunes and probably many new contacts, both socially, in business or employment. An eventful year, happy and prosperous. A child born on this day should be splendidly equipped intellectually, culturally, socially and by industry, steadfastness and personal application for high and important position in life.

For Monday, Feb. 8

MONDAY'S ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST is a fairly adverse one, with some attempt to stir things up, but with many difficult situations to be encountered. The mind and spirits may not be inclined to battle with these, so postponements where possible are advised. Be on guard against debts, treachery and misadventure.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves in a year while it may be difficult to find a new position or a new one may be difficult to find. Be on guard against debts, treachery and misadventure.

Those whose birthday it is are assured of a year of splendid attainments, with promotion, honors and preferment from those in authority or elderly persons or institutions. These culminate in fulfilled ambitions, increased fortunes and probably many new contacts, both socially, in business or employment. An eventful year, happy and prosperous. A child born on this day should be splendidly equipped intellectually, culturally, socially and by industry, steadfastness and personal application for high and important position in life.

For Monday, Feb. 8

MONDAY'S ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST is a fairly adverse one, with some attempt to stir things up, but with many difficult situations to be encountered. The mind and spirits may not be inclined to battle with these, so postponements where possible are advised. Be on guard against debts, treachery and misadventure.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves in a year while it may be difficult to find a new position or a new one may be difficult to find. Be on guard against debts, treachery and misadventure.

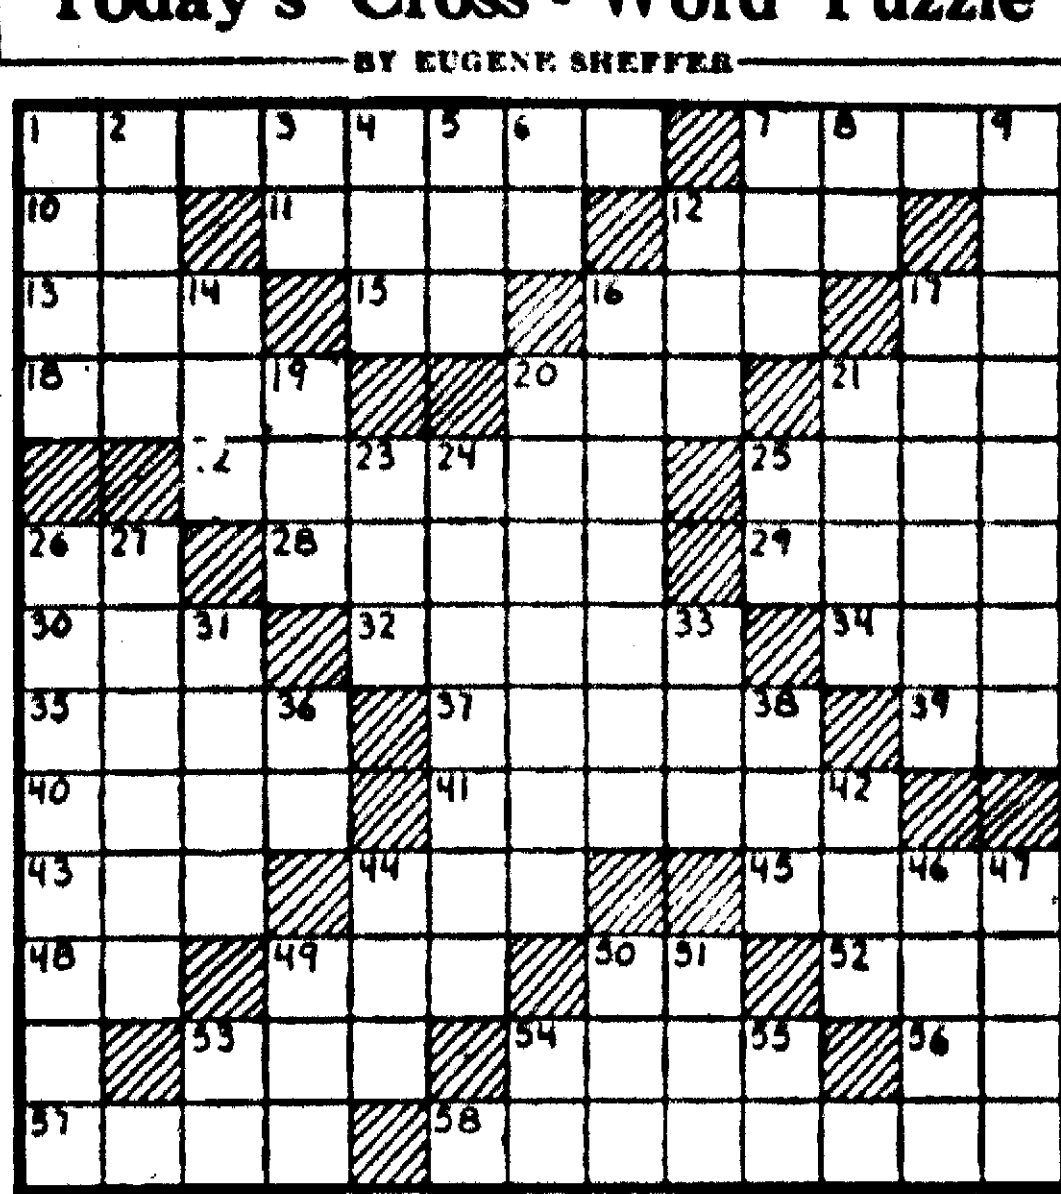

TRADE PLACES IN JAIL.

Alfred Russell (left), indicted in a $200,000 kidnaping ring in Chicago, switched identities with his brother, Stanley, (right), and walked out of the county jail at Chicago to freedom. The escape was accomplished when Stanley visited his brother in jail. The two are singularly alike physically and Stanley remained behind while Alfred was allowed his freedom. Alfred Russell, in addition to the kidnaping charge, has a criminal record of 10 years.

"Yes, I'll do that," he said absently, then added quickly: "You said Marion is seeing everything this evening. Do you mean that—that?"

I smiled at him, and made prompt response.

Hero Leads "Our Boys" to 33-19 Win Over Bucyrus

BY BOB KIRKPATRICK
Sports Editor, The Star

WITH Billie Hero, Harding's dynamic forward, plunking in baskets from all corners of the Steam Shovel court, the Red and Black basketball team of Harding High School last night handed the Bucyrus Redmen the worst beating which has been meted out to any team in the North Central Ohio league to date this season. The final score of the conflict was 33-19 for the Presidents.

There was no stopping this boy Hero last night, particularly in the second half. The diminutive forward didn't get going above an average speed in the first two periods, accounting for only two field goals in the opening half. In the second half Hero started tossing buckets with abandon and before he went out on personal fouls with five minutes of the game left to be played he had rolled up a total of seven field goals and a trio of charity tosses. Just two points less than the combined total of the Bucyrus team.

CALEDONIA TRIPS WALDO, 17-13, TO TAKE LEAD IN EAST HALF OF RACE

Kirkpatrick Stays in Running for Crown by Stopping Pleasant.

BY KARL R. McELROY

That elusive basketball championship of the eastern division of the Marion County High School league is just around the corner for the hard fighting Caledonia quintet after its sensational victory last night over Waldo, 17-13.

It took an overtime period for Caledonia to take over the league leadership. The victory, however, avenged a one-point win Waldo scored in their first encounter of the season.

Whether the street around the corner will prove to be just a blind alley will be determined when Caledonia tangles with Kirkpatrick on the latter's floor next Friday night. This battle offers many interesting possibilities. If Caledonia wins the championship will be in the bag. Of the present leaders lose—well, anything might happen. Three teams would then have a chance to walk off with the coveted bunting. Waldo is considering its game with Claridon next Friday night already won.

Swisher was the hero of last night's battle. He scored the field goals in the overtime period after the score had been tied at 15-15 by free throws. The teams fought on an even basis in the first quarter, the period ending 3-3. Caledonia failed to score in the second period and Waldo led 6-3 at the half. Caledonia came back strong in the third to knot the count at 10-10 and the regular playing period ended with the count at 12 each.

Gaffen, Waldo forward, scored six points to lead his team while Swisher with seven points was high for the victors.

The Waldo girls had little trouble in defeating Caledonia after the first period. Waldo led 5-4 at the end of the opening quarter but gradually increased its lead until the game ended with the count at 16 to 11. Shults scored 12 of Waldo's points.

AGOSTA GIRLS WIN
The LaRue boys' basketball team held a field meet last night at the expense of Agosta, bombarding the basket from all corners of the court to win by a 63-16 score. The Agosta girls surprised the LaRue opponents and turned in their initial victory of the current season by a score of 20-14.

With all members of the LaRue team having their scoring guns trained on the basket the Agosta coached quintet had little difficulty in running up a one-sided advance. Agosta never threatened at all. Any time to win the game although the Men of Hutchinson battled hard all the way.

The Agosta victory over the LaRue girls elevated the former team from a share in the cellar position and puts the latter team in full possession of last place in the league.

Claridon Girls Record Ninth Consecutive Victory of Season.
For the second straight year Moral High school boys head the list in the Western division of the Marion county court league. Coach George Schertzer's combine turned back Meeker last night 25-23 for the second time this season. Regardless of how the two teams fare in their final conflict of the season next week, Moral will be champions of the West half.

Meeker put up a gallant battle against the two-year champions for three periods but slipped in the final stanza and Moral rallied to chalk up the narrow victory.

Meeker took the lead in the first period by a 9-6 margin and increased the advantage to 15-11 by the end of the first half. The two teams battled neck and neck in the third frame, both sides recording five points. In the final frame, Meeker's defense cracked as the dizzy pace began to take its toll and Moral ran up nine points in the last eight minutes to cop the battle.

Newland of Moral racked up 10 points to lead the winner's scoring column while Meeker's point-getters were topped by J. Green, who scored nine markers.

KIRK DOWNS PLEASANT
Furnace-Coached Teams Score Double Victory on Foreign Court.
A 26-17 victory over Pleasant's hardwired warriors last night on the Pleasant court assures the Kirkpatrick High school boys of at least a mathematical chance of coping the championship of the East half of the Marion county circuit.

Kirk has yet to meet Caledonia and a victory for the former will knot the standings in the division and require post season games to decide the winner of the title. Should Waldo win from Claridon next week and Kirk stop Caledonia, all three teams will be tied for the top, necessitating two extra games. If Waldo loses and Kirkpatrick wins, only Kirk and Caledonia will be tied for the top.

Kirkpatrick turned in a decisive win over Pleasant, taking the advantage early in the first period and holding it all through the four periods of play. Pleasant was hard pressed in the third period. Hill scored for 18 points and was trailed by his team mate R. Hatt who registered a total of eight markers.

The Kirkpatrick girls, led by M. Lenko who turned in 14 tallies to aid her team's cause, scored a one-sided 21-12 victory over the Pleasant girls. Kirkpatrick was forced the limit to hold the lead in the first three periods of play but Pleasant Continued on Page Thirteen Drumm Wins Fifth.

Blanchard "Doggie" Drumm of Marion turned in his fifth victory in the Ohio Pocket billiards league last night at Columbus, winning from E. A. Pierce by a score of 125 to 94. Drumm now has a record of five victories and one setback in six starts.

Joe Savoldi To Wrestle Here
Mat fans can get some idea from this picture of what Joe Savoldi, the former Notre Dame football star, will look like Monday night when he dons a pair of tights for a wrestling match at the Steam Shovel gym with Karl Davis.

Calvary Clammers Into Deadlock For Top Post in League
Forest Lawn Loses to Co-Holders of Church Lead; Irish Beaten.
Calvary Evangelical Sunday school basketball team clattered into a triple deadlock for the highest post in the city church league standings last night on the Y court by trouncing the Forest Lawn Presbyterians 32-18. The victory was the sixth in seven starts for the Calvary five and advances them into a tie with Central Christians and Epworth M. E. Each team has two more games to play.

In the only other game played last night First Reformed took a rough and tumble encounter from the St. Mary's Irish to gain a first division berth with four victories and three setbacks.

Savoldi will head the card here Monday night in a two hour time limit affair with two falls to win. If he does as well wrestling as he did toting a football for the Irish, the chances of a Davis victory are rather slim.

Central Varsity Wins--or Maybe It Was Father Time

They fought a good fight but lost, 36-28. The speedy Central Junior High school basketball team, led by Joe Castner, proved the length of floor was something to bring hearty laughs from the throats of 400 assembled for the melee. Donald Lee of Edison Junior High, O. C. Ice of Central, Ceil Gabler of Central, T. R. Evans, special teacher, Alwyn Crane of Vernon and Hamer Mitchell of Central, probably didn't rise from their downy couches until noon today and when they did their muscles ached. Crane was high score man for the faculty "boys."

And if Harry Albrecht's throat isn't sore by Sunday hymns, it won't be the crowd's fault. The crowd just wouldn't yell for him—

MORRAL GIRLS WIN
Marion Business College Team Beaten by 17-15 Score.
The Moral High school girls basketball team gained ample revenge for a beating two weeks ago at the hands of the Marion Business College team by wallowing the future bookkeepers last night by a 17-15 score. The game was played as a prelude to the Moral-Meeker boys' battle.

Moral lost its only game of the season to the Business College two weeks ago but last night's result evened the score between the rivals.

Moral took the lead in the first period of the game and held to it through the entire fray although Marion girls forced them to battle hard most of the time.

Luella Mautz of the Business college was high scorer for the game with nine points. Moore of Moral trailed the eight markers.

TYGERS TOP ORANGEMEN; ASHLAND BUMPS SHELBY

Points When Points Count is the motto of Gene Brandon, the colored flash who cavitates at a forward position for the Mansfield Tygers' basketball team. Last Saturday against Harding, Brandon went scoreless until the final period of the game and then dropped in a pair of field goals that sent Harding crashing from the top post in the N. C. O. league. Last night against Gallon, Brandon repeated the procedure except that he waited until an overtime period to put on his little specialty act.

After a terrific four quarter battle, Brandon scored the winning points in the overtime period to give the Tygers a 29-28 victory over the Orangemen.

Mansfield held a lead over Gallon through the first two periods of play but a furious third quarter Gallon rally wrecked the Mansfield defense and brought the score to 25-22 in favor of the Orangemen by the end of the period.

The Gallon attack bogged down in the final frame and Mansfield fought its way into a 27-27 deadlock as the gun sounded the end of the regular playing time. A single field goal gave Gallon a one point lead as the overtime period got under way and what happened in the rest of the overtime period was recorded in the first paragraph under the heading of Points When Points Count.

The victory allows Mansfield to hold undisputed possession of first place for at least another week.

The Mansfield Reserves beat Gallon 23-18.
